With the long-lasting KERALOCK men's perm, you can achieve full, voluminous curls just the way you want them.

Mildly formulated active ingredients and nourishing substances are particularly gentle on the hair and scalp.

Towels, comb, brush, moisturizer/cream, cotton strips, watch/alarm clock, perm end paper, curlers (approx. 10-20 pieces, depending on requirements and hair length)

Wet the hair and dab lightly with a towel.

Separate strands of hair according to the width of the curlers. Take a sheet of end paper and place the ends of the hair in the middle between the folded sheet.

Twist the wrapped strand onto the curler up to the roots without pulling the hair too tightly. Place the first curler in the center front of the forehead. Then wind in two rows, slightly staggered, alternating left and right, strand by strand, until you have wrapped all the hair.

(If you don't just want to curl the top of your head, continue in this way down to your neck and then curl the side sections).

Then apply a thick layer of skin cream to the forehead, temples and neck and place an absorbent cotton strip along the hairline around the head. This serves as an important protective barrier.

Now put on the gloves. To activate for the first time, hold the bottle with the sponge head down, press firmly against a flat surface and "pump" a few times until the liquid comes out. Then you can apply the perming-lotion (1) curler by curler in doses. The sponge applicator makes it easy to lather up the product.

Now put on the plastic cap and wrap a towel around it. Leave the perming lotion on for a maximum of 20 minutes. After 10 minutes, you should check the effect regularly: Unroll a test strand halfway, check the curl, roll it up again. Do not exceed the maximum application time under any circumstances.

Once the desired curl or the maximum application time has been reached, carefully remove the cotton strips and rinse the curled hair thoroughly (at least 5-10 minutes!) with warm water. Pat dry with a towel and apply a new cotton strip.

Apply 3/4 of the fixing lotion (2) and leave on for 10 minutes.

You can then remove the curlers and gently massage the rest of the fixing lotion (2) into the hair (use gloves!).

Rinse thoroughly with warm water. Hold your head upside down and dry hair by gently scrunching with a towel. We recommend finishing with a nourishing conditioner.

NOTE: Do not wash hair for at least 48 hours after use. Otherwise there is a risk that the effect of the perm will be lost. For long-lasting results, please also follow the additional tips in these instructions for use.

Get help with the application. It's more fun with two people and it's also much easier to achieve an even result.

The strength of the perm depends on the hair structure, the application time (do not exceed the max. exposure time!) and the diameter of the curlers. For a voluminous look, use smaller curlers. For long hair or if you prefer to achieve only a slight wave (surfer look), you can also use medium to larger diameters.

For an optimal result and to ensure a proper placement of the curlers, your hair should be at least 10 cm long.

Only use metal-free plastic curlers. To curl the hair, always section the strands according to the width of the curler and twist them tightly up to the roots, but without pulling the hair too much.

The curler holding band must point upwards and should not squeeze the hair. If in doubt, it is better to use less hair per strand.

Use plastic sticks to give the curlers additional hold. You can also use cotton buds, but ideally you should remove the absorbent cotton beforehand.

We recommend protecting the skin on your face with a thick layer of skin cream and a cotton swab. As soon as you apply either the perming or fixing lotion, please always wear protective gloves.

A perm is a chemical reshaping process that naturally takes a toll on the hair. Therefore, permed hair should be cared for more intensively and styled gently. Regular use of a conditioner is just as important as using moisturizing curl shampoos.

When styling, you should avoid combing or brushing your hair. It is best to detangle your curls carefully with your fingers.

You can also find suitable care products for your perm in our online store at keralock.shop.

Before using this waving agent for the first time, please test your hair's tendency to curl first. To do this, use a test curler by moistening only one strand of hair with water and treating it according to the instructions for use. If the damp hair is then stretchy like rubber or if it is straw-like or difficult to comb after drying, please refrain from using a waving treatment.

Please note that carrying out this test cannot provide reliable results with absolute certainty in terms of waving ability and waving results. If in doubt, please refrain from using a waving treatment.

Do not use if the hair is bleached.

To avoid undesirable color changes and hair damage, please wait at least 14 days after applying the perm before putting additional stress on your hair, e.g. by coloring it.

If the recommended exposure time is exceeded or the hair is already damaged, the use of waving products can cause considerable hair damage and even hair breakage.
